THE WAY OF ALL SLATES.

As the Mail has previously remarked the open primary election is a deathblow to political bossism and prearranged slates. This is evidenced by the political chaos, from the would-be bosses' point of view, that exists over all the State. "Politics is all shot to pieces," the old-timers tell us, because there is no one at the head, and no one to give orders, for the simple reason that the man who can vote secretly for whom he pleases will not take orders. Consequently, from the former so-called leader's point of view, all is chaos.

This is a most desirable condition. The people are now the political arbiters, and that is the reason why all slates fail, and why all attempts to form a hard and fast organization falls down. Mayor Magee, in his desire to emulate his illustrious relative and become the "Little Napoleon" of politics in Pittsburg and Allegheny county, is realizing that the people and not the bosses are the ruler. In the efforts to foist a slate upon the Republican voters of Washington county the attempt has gone down, "hoist by its own petard."

This was the object of the primary—to take the political control out of the hands of individual and restore it to the people where it belongs. Any attempt on the part of any individual or faction to assume control of political affairs in Washington county is doomed to failure as long as the open primary law is in existence.

SOMETHING PERMANENT

Any person who reads the newspapers of the surrounding towns—Pittsburg included—will note that the various sections are making an effort to benefit their towns and communities in a business and industrial way. One of the significant features is that a change of method is apparent. Instead of trying to get people to come to the city or towns just to spend money, efforts are being made to get something that will be of permanent benefit—something that will help the people who are already in the community to be able to be employed more steadily at profitable wages. In other words, town boomers have discovered that something more is essential than attracting crowds of outsiders to the community just to spend their money for a day.

Charleroi has committed this same error of expending its efforts for "big days" instead of trying for something permanent. Now the town is up against the condition of a stagnated trade between big pay days for industries outside. There are now many more people living in the town than get employment here, and consequently they have to go outside, or a portion of them are idle more or less, so that the aggregate cuts down trade and business correspondingly. There is always talk about getting small industries, but until conditions are better for these there is not much prospect in that direction, when other towns can offer cheaper labor, cheaper sites, cheaper rents and lower taxation and living expenses.

Charleroi like Pittsburg and all other towns along the valley need more diversified industries, and it is up to the promoters to try to foster and promote these, instead of devoting their time to "big days." What is wanted is something at home for the people already here to do and which will give them permanent employment.

Philosophizing rarely gets a person much money unless he can put it down intelligibly on paper, but it puts a lot of sound sense in his brain.

Structural iron work is a lot more interesting to the average man than all the greatest oil paintings of all the old masters.

It keeps rail road magnates about as busy announcing that they won't retire as it does baseball players that they will.

Independence of mind is something that the Democrats and members of other parties wish to announce that the Republican voters haven't.

Judging from the way some young folks act on the streets there is a lot of good sense going to waste.

With the big quantity of philosophy that is being daily unloaded on the world, the people are still not appreciable.

The trouble with philosophers is that everybody thinks he can manufacture better philosophy than the other fellow.

Foremen on the Panama canal work have been instructed not to wear engineers insisting that the Gatun shall be the biggest dam down there.

To a man who has had three wives and three divorces and is not seeking for more of either, the love ditties of the famous old poets haven't much attraction.

It is better to have loved and lost than to have married some girls.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Your paper is certainly widely read in Charleroi," said the agent of Footer's Dye works of Cumberländ, Md., which has opened a branch in Monessen, and is now running a wagon to Charleroi. "I put an announcement of our new arrangement in your paper Wednesday and on Thursday we drove over here to introduce ourselves and get acquainted. At the end of the Monessen bridge we struck people who said, 'Oh, yes I saw your advertisement in the Charleroi paper,' and we met that same response in practically every house we stopped at in town, and we made a pretty thorough canvas. In my 15 years experience in business and newspaper advertising I never experienced so many direct responses in so short a time. One thing is certain

BIG BRIDGE TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Monessen Plans Expenditure of $50,000 To Build Immense Viaduct

TESTS ARE BEING MADE

Tests are being made by Fred J. Biele, an engineer of the Chester and Fleming firm of Pittsburg for foundations for a big viaduct to be constructed over Third street, Monessen, connecting Reed and Rostraver streets. The viaduct will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and Monessen council has asked the voters of the borough to approve an outlay of that sum in its construction.

The viaduct which will be built of concrete, will be 510 feet long, with a roadway between 30 and 50 feet in width. The big structure will slope from Rostraver to Reed avenue on a 5 per cent grade. There will be a main arch 200 feet in length curving up to the roadway from piers of solid masonry set on a tested foundation. The height of the main arch will be approximately 90 feet in the center to the curve. The viaduct will be an important one to Monessen.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions of respect adopted by Charleroi Circle No. 303 of the Protected Home Circle, in memory of Brother Frank Hough, who departed this life Sept. 8th, 1911.

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from among us, one of our worthy esteemed brothers, in which we feel a great loss, but bow submissively to His will, therefore

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from our midst leaves a vacancy that will be deeply realized by all members of our Circle.

Resolved, That with sincere sympathy for the bereaved wife and relatives of the deceased, we hereby express our hope that even so great a loss may be overruled for good, by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, a copy printed in the local paper and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

Wanted the Day to Himself

Nothing makes us quite so weary as these elaborate, gotten-up-ahead-of-time jokes that some people stage and spring with such a dramatic effect. Our Washington correspondent told us of one of these, the other day. A man went into the patent office, last week, and said he wanted a copyright. They steered him to the right department, and he opened up like this:

"This is Saturday, is it not? Thank you. I understand that you will not issue a copyright on Sunday."

"No, sir. That is the rule."

"But you will issue a copyright on any other day of the week?"

"Yes, sir."

"I'm so glad. I want to get Friday copyrighted. It's my birthday, and I don't want any other fellows using it. How much will it cost?"

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

Blessing English Crops.
The quaint ceremony of blessing the crops was observed the other evening on the Earl of Craven's estate at Bingley, in Northeast Warwickshire, says the London Daily Mail. Meeting at the parish church, the vicar and a number of parishioners formed into procession and various well-known farms were visited.

Trans-Atlantic Cable Business

Traffic Chart of Western Union, Anglo-American and Direct U. S. Cable Business, Showing Capacity of the Cables and the Proportion Now Utilized.

Proposed Modification of Existing Arrangements

A provisional modification of an arrangement which has existed for many years has been reached between the Western Union Telegraph Company, The Anglo-American Cable Company and the Direct U. S. Cable Company, under which the cable systems of these companies now worked exclusively in business connection with each other, but operated and maintained separately, will be operated in direct physical connection with each other in with the Western Union land system.

Two objects are to be attained by this arrangement:

First, more efficient and economical operation.

Second, the introduction of new forms of service to the advantage of the public.

The Trans-Atlantic Cable Situation and Competition

The trans-Atlantic cable situation is as follows:

The Mackay group of seven cables, including the German cables, owned by or worked in physical connection with the telegraph lines of that company form one system.

The French cables comprise an independent system, using both the Western Union and the Mackay land lines for their United States connection.

In competition with these is the Western Union group of cables, eight in all, owned by three separate companies, two of which are British companies owning five of the eight.

Two only of the British owned cables terminate in the United States and all of them are entirely dependent on the Western Union for their connection with any telegraph system, or for their reaching any centre of business, and are now worked exclusively, so far as business is concerned, with the Western Union.

Efficiency Increased, Waste Prevented

The proposed arrangement between the Western Union, the Anglo-American and the Direct U. S. companies will bring the eight cables of the three companies under one operating control. The consequent increase in effectiveness and economy will place the Western Union in a position to offer certain advantages in cable service not now enjoyed by the public.

The other way open to enable the Western Union to make such improvements and introduce such new services as it proposes to do, would be to lay new cables. This would seem to be the height of folly.

Duplication of the existing trans-Atlantic cable facilities at a cost of many millions, when there are more than ample facilities for all business, would put an unnecessary financial burden upon an already fully burdened business and would probably postpone the reduction of rates or introduction of new services.

Limited Business Hours and Idle Facilities

As at present carried on, the trans-Atlantic cable business is practically all flash service, i. e. instantaneous. Owing to the difference in time, there are only a few business hours of the day common to both sides and during these hours at least 75% of the cable business is done. This is demonstrated by the accompanying chart.

In the interests of international business nothing should be done to interfere in any way with the so-called flash or instantaneous service, and the lines should be kept clear to accommodate such messages during the few business hours common to both countries; but to continue to confine the cables to this class of service, as at present, will utilize only about 25% of the existing capacity of millions of property and places on that limited service all the capital, maintenance and operating charges.

The limited time and the character of the business, if best results are to

Efficient Service Requires Sufficient Facilities

To meet these requirements it is essential not only that there be at all times sufficient cable facilities, under one control, but that they should be operated interchangeably with each other and in close physical connection with land lines as one system. Adequate spare facilities are necessary to provide against the very frequent cable interruptions.

Neither the Western Union nor any one of the companies of the Western Union group has, independently of the others, facilities enough to handle the business which at times any one company might be called upon to take care of, because of some particular rush of business, or because of some cable interruption. Nor could any one company furnish all the direct circuits necessary for efficient service, although the combined facilities of these companies are ample if they could be used supplementary to each other and interchangeably.

As it is, each company operates its own cables through separate and distinct offices and under separate and distinct management. All interchange of business is by actual transfer of the business from one company to the other, with the consequent delay and interruption of a service in which seconds are valuable.

Daily and Week-end Cable Letters

So soon as the proposed arrangement goes into effect, the Western Union purposes, with the consent of the British Post Office Department, to introduce at least two new features or services in addition to the proposed deferred rate—the DAILY CABLE LETTER and the WEEK-END CABLE LETTER at a very low rate for cable service only. This will enable the public to save the six to eight days consumed in the trans-Atlantic passage of mails.

Monopoly of Cable Business Impossible

There is no cable monopoly possible. The three systems—the Western Union, the French and the Mackay—will continue to exist.

The Mackay Companies is a holding organization with no physical property, but exercising through stock ownership, lease or contract, operating control of various companies owning land lines and cables which make up the Mackay System. Through this control all the various properties are operated as one system to great advantage in service over what could be given by these same companies if operated separately.

The French cables form another system.

The Western Union System, under the proposed arrangement for one operating control over the present segregated units, will be enabled to make two distinct advances in the trans-Atlantic cable business:

1—BETTER SERVICE. This will be insured by more efficient and economical working resulting from single direction over the operations of both cables and land lines.

2—PUBLIC ADVANTAGES. The greater part of the cable capacity has been and is now unutilized. It will continue to lie dormant and unutilized under existing conditions and traditions. The Western Union purposes to make these wasted facilities useful to the public by means of new kinds of cable service.

In addition, the Western Union intends to nationalize its land lines by opening them to all trans-Atlantic cable companies.

The limited time and the character of the business, if best results are to

The Sense of Smell.
"It is the upper part of the nose that smells," said a perfumer. "The lining there is very sensitive and brown in color, not red, as in the lower nose. Men are more sensitive to odors than women. Scientific tests have shown, I believe, that, while many men can detect the smell of prussic acid even when there is only one part of the acid to two million parts of water, the average woman fails to detect the smell if there are less than ten parts of the acid. Though the white man is much less sensitive to odors than the savage, a prolonged stay in a part of the world where smells are few puts a very fine edge on the sense of smell. Dr. Nansen has declared that when returning from the ice world to Franz Josef Land he knew when he was approaching the assistant he had left there by smelling his scented soap long before he saw him. He could, too, when approaching the hut have given an inventory of the stores there, as he smelled everything it contained separately and distinctly."

Ruled His Servants by Fines.
Sir Richard Newdigate, a seventeenth century Warwickshire squire, whose papers were published some years ago by one of his descendants, ruled his servants by a system of fines.

The value at which he rated domestic crimes is shown by such entries in his diary as: "Nan Newton, for breaking a teapot, 2s. 6d.; Richard Knight, for pride and slighting, 2s. 6d.; William Hetherington, for not being ready to go to church three Sundays, 18 pence; Thomas Birdall, for being at Nunstone from morning till night, 5 shillings; cook, dead drunk, 10 shillings." As his cook's wages were only 2s a year she paid pretty dearly for her lapse from sobriety. Sir Richard had a system of rewards as well as penalties.

"To my three daughters," he writes, "because they came to prayers, 3 shillings," and "to Tom Cooper, who worked hard after he broke his head, 2s 6d."

Origin of Foxe's "Book of Martyrs."
Foxe's "Book of Martyrs" was published in March, 1652, as the "Actes and Monuments" of the martyrs, a title borrowed from an earlier book, says the London Chronicle. The famous volume might never have appeared at all but for the association of Foxe with the printer Day of Aldersgate street, in whose business Foxe took an active part. On the tombstone of Day in the church of Little Bradley, Suffolk, the partnership is thus immortalized:

He et a Fox to wright how martyrs runne
By death to lyfe; Fox ventured paynes
and health
To give them light: Daye spent in print his wealth.

Even in those days the alien problem troubled industry, for we find Foxe appealing to Cecil to relax the law and permit his friend Day to engage more than four foreign printers.

Iron In Plants.
Iron is the substance which gives the green appearance to foliage. It forms a constituent part of chlorophyll and is the green coloring matter which stains the bodies inside the cells of leaves, called plastids. When the first organized food is being formed in the leaves from water and carbonic acid gas a certain amount of energy is required. This is obtained from the sun's rays, but the work of absorbing it is carried out by the chlorophyll.

It requires very little iron for the production of all the chlorophyll found in a crop, and nearly all soils contain an abundant supply.

The Human Clock.
The Spanish painter Ribera, Mr. Hal dane Macfall recalls in his "History of Painting," worked with such fervor that all count of time was lost to him. "He made a living clock to check the passing hours. His servant came every hour to the studio to say in a loud and stately voice, 'Another hour has gone, Signor Cavaliere!'"

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CLAS BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and "helpful."

LIVE UNDER THE SAME ROOF PAID TO PLAY WITH JIMMY

Then, and Not Until Then, Will You Become Really Acquainted With Your Friends.

Two households may stand side by side on the same street, two families live within hailing distance of one another for years in the same community, and yet have opposite tastes, sentiments and convictions. The children of each growing up together may marry and, until they reach the period of new adjustment, never suspect how antagonistic has been their early training. This is one reason why the first year of marriage is so beset with briars and thorns. Everybody knows that until people actually dwell under the same roof they do not mutually become acquainted. A single week spent with a friend at a house party does more to promote intimacy or indifference than years of superficial social intercourse.

The touch-and-go meetings incidental to teas and receptions are the "surest" suggestions of personality, but when one sits day after day beside the fire or at the table with a neighbor, each ceasing to be on guard, real understanding begins. Even correspondence, which is a degree in the nature of revelation, does not make people so well acquainted and is by no means so true a test of disposition and temperament as the test of living together. During courtship and betrothal an engaged pair are on probation. Without effort each displays qualities of charm that cannot fail to be attractive. The most ordinary speech has a flavor of compliment. The future husband and wife are walking through a land of dreams. Shall the dreams come true? They surely will if on both sides there are fixed principles of honor, justice and fidelity.—Mrs. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion.

MARY STUART'S BLACK PEARL

Story of Accidental Recovery of the Scottish Queen's Necklace in a Little Shop.

A remarkable story appears in a Paris contemporary of the discovery of the black pearl necklace of Mary Queen of Scots, which disappeared on February 8, 1587. We give the story as we find it.

A lady cyclist had a mishap with the cord of her pincenez while touring in an obscure town in Scotland. The lady pulled up at the general shop and tried to replace the cord. The shopkeeper, not having a suitable cord, told the lady he would take the wire from an old necklace which he showed her.

She, being struck with it, said she would buy it at the price asked—12d.—and do as best she could for a cord. On reaching her lodgings the lady cleaned the pearl and was struck with their beauty.

The lady's next procedure was to submit the necklace to an expert jeweler, who pronounced the pearls to be of very great value, and the Paris contemporary from which we have taken the story says they are worth at least £15,000, adding that on the day of the execution the unfortunate queen of Scotland divided among her women who attended, her ornaments and jewels, including the necklace of black pearls. How it passed into the hands of the ancestors of the shopkeeper is a mystery.

LORE OF THE WEDDING RING

Puritans Vainly Sought to Abolish the Emblem—Diamond Best for Betrothal Ring.

According to the ancient ritual in marriage the husband began the ring business by placing it upon the bride's thumb and putting it successively on the next two fingers, pronouncing for each one a personal trinity, with a final amen when the fourth finger was reached, and then the ring remained. The Greek church ritual directs that the ring be placed upon the right hand. Puritan influence sought to abolish the ring as a vain and beauteous emblem, but the sweet old fashion of giving and taking the emblem "for our love's sake" yet remains to us.

Betrothal or engagement rings vary in fashion nowadays, and always depend, or should, upon the purse of the donor. Where there are no limitations of this sort his taste, if it be perfect, will lead him to choose the diamond solitaire, and of the best he can afford, a small and pure blue-white stone being altogether preferable to a large stone. Some prefer a ring set with three stones—generally sapphire set between two diamonds. Others select a ruby or an emerald, which signifies promise of happiness.

Few persons choose pearls for an engagement ring, as pearls are supposed to typify tears. They are also too perishable to become emblems of love, which, in its first glow, at least, is understood to be indestructible. Their beauty is very precarious, being dimmed, or "aged," as the lapidary expresses it, by contact with impure air, while acid annihilates them completely.

How We Live.

The only right is that which allows man's individuality to expand, and the only wrong is that which contracts it—we live in the measure that we voice ourselves, and we but linger when self-expression atrophies and dies.

Lad Explains How He and His Little Mates Earned Ten Cents Apiece.

The Higgins family was gathered about the supper table, and Mr. Higgins was engaged in serving the cold ham on the pile of waiting plates. He interrupted that process long enough to address one of his young sons.

"Edward," he said, "didn't I hear you say that Jimmy Fanning was so disagreeable and quarrelsome that you are not going to play with him any more?"

"Yes, father."

"And didn't you say that all the boys at your school said the same thing?"

"Yes, father."

"How did it happen, then, that when I came home tonight I saw you and Billy and John Head and a lot more youngsters over in the Fannings' yard?"

"Well, you see, father, we were all over to the Bacons', and Mr. Fanning came over and said he knew we didn't like to play with Jimmy, but he would give us ten cents apiece if we would go over there this afternoon and play. He says he'll give any of us a dime any time we'll come over and spend the afternoon with Jimmy."

Mr. Higgins looked incredulous till his son dug into his pocket and produced a bright, new ten-cent piece as corroborative evidence. Then he looked at his wife and smiled.

"It's a good thing Jimmy's father is well-to-do," he said. "Did you have a pleasant afternoon, Edward?"

"Well, we earned the money, all right," said Edward.—Youth's Companion.

SAVED FOR FURTHER SERVICE

Good Old Teapot, Precious Relic, Could Not Be Allowed to Become Prey of Flames.

The hotel is in flames. Sadly the guests and servants gaze at the roaring pyre. Suddenly they see the proprietor dash madly in at the blazing doorway.

"He has gone to rescue someone!" they gasp.

Tensely they wait his reappearance. One minute. Two minutes. Three.

Has he perished in that crackling furnace?

No! No! See, there he comes, singed and scorched, but safe

What is that he carries so carefully in his arms? It is the hotel teapot, half-full of nice black tea.

Cheers rewarded the proprietor for his noble act of sentiment.

For twelve years the teapot has stood on the back of the kitchen range, bolling faithfully away. For twelve years it has poured out its life-blood in response to the calls of the transient world for drink, and the tea leaves in its dark old depths will do for many years to come.—Newark News.

AND READY TO FIGHT AGAIN

Cat Refused to Be a Party to Proceedings by Which She Officially Died.

Jerry the pet cat of the Stoltz family of Bloomfield, N. J., considerably startled its mistress when, the other afternoon, it appeared at the kitchen door after having been buried as dead during the course of the preceding forenoon. Jerry is of a warlike disposition, and during a recent combat, sustained such injuries that the family decided to put him out of misery. Accordingly the garbage man was prevailed on to place the pet animal in an old tin boiler, pour in chloroform and put on the lid. In a few minutes Jerry was "dead." He was buried and the Stoltz children covered the grave of their friend and playmate with flowers. But life to Jerry was sweet, so when Mrs. Stoltz opened the kitchen door later, she found him waiting for admittance. Mrs. Stoltz screamed and ran, but her husband, let the cat in, and declared he would not permit the warrior to be "killed" again.

Napoleon Suppressed "Julius Caesar."

Bonaparte was one night at the play in Paris, and it happened to be "Julius Caesar." Talma performed the part of Brutus, and when he knelt to Caesar and said, "Give us back our liberties," the acclamations all over the house were so great that nothing could be heard on the stage for many minutes. Bonaparte meanwhile was taking snuff in his most violent way, which he always did when agitated. The next day he sent orders that that play was not to be acted any more.

Journal of the Hon Mr Calvert

Phillips on Matrimony.

The late David Graham Phillips had, like many bachelors, a cynical view of matrimony. Mr. Phillips, at a reunion of Princeton's class of '87, at the Princeton club, said of marriage: "The Persians have a proverb that every young man should consider well before proposing. It runs: 'He that ventures on matrimony is like unto one who thrusteth his hand into a sack containing many thousands of serpents and one eel. Yet, if the prophet so will it, he may draw forth the eel.'"

WOULDN'T CHARGE FOR AID

But Good Samaritan Farmer Would Sell His Team to the Stalled Automobile.

"Why," returned the farmer, scratching his head in a puzzled sort of fashion, "I'm not the kind of a feller as would charge a sufferin' feller—bein' anything at all for helpin' him out o' trouble."

"That's mighty nice of you," said Witherbee.

"No, sir," said the farmer. "My conscience wouldn't never rest if I done a thing like that. Jest couldn't look my wife or the parson in the face if I took no for bein' a good Samaritan."

"By George!" said Witherbee, "It does my heart good to hear a man talk that way these days."

"Wa-al, it's been a rule o' mine ever since I was a boy," said the old man. "I wish there were more people like you," said Witherbee.

"Pity there ain't," said the farmer; "but I don't take any pride to myself becuze of it. Giddap!"

"But I say," said Witherbee, "where are you going? You haven't helped me out of the mud yet?"

"Why," said the old man, "you hasn't made me any offer."

"What for?" demanded Witherbee.

"For the team," said the farmer. "I can't charge ye nothin' for helpin' ye, but I'll sell ye the horses for $50 a head."—Harper's Bazaar.

This is the Pledge That Downer Made

"That if nominated and elected to the office of County Treasurer, I promise the people a capable and efficient administration, based on sound business principals, conducted solely in the interest of the taxpayers. I will deposit all funds coming into my care to the best advantage of the county, and will furnish my own bond. I will make no effort to influence the County Commissioners in their efforts to arrive at an equitable adjustment of the treasurer's compensation, and will conduct the office in the event of my success, as a trustee of the people, serving them, in every instance with faithfulness and fidelity."

First Calculating Machine.

The first calculating machine was invented and constructed by Blaise Pascal, a Frenchman, in 1642, in which year he was but nineteen years of age. It was made by him with the aid of one workman and was presented to the chancellor of France. During the revolution it was found in a junk shop at Bordeaux and at present is the property of M. Bouguen of that city. All of the four simple mathematical operations can be made with it.

BUSY IN OTHER TOWNS

Continuing its efforts to establish service in every part of the valley the Independent Telephone Construction company, is now trying to have an ordinance put through at Monongahela granting it the rights to construct and maintain a telephone system there. Other towns on which it is centering are Monessen and Donora. Already Belle Vernon, Fayette City and in fact all boroughs between Charleroi and California are on the Independent line.

This week an ordinance was presented to common council at Monongahela, and passed by that body. It is now up to the select council to consider the ordinance and then if passed it will go to the Mayor's hands either for approval or veto. The real fight, if there is to be any, hasn't begun.

While the Independent Telephone Construction company is busy with new systems in towns heretofore solidly in the grasp of the Bell Telephone company, the latter concern is busy improving their service. The Bell really furnishes the most complete service at the present time. In Charleroi an entire new system is being installed.

For County Treasurer

C. S. RITCHIE
North Franklin Township
Primaries September 30, 1911. According to Rules of the Republican Party.

A few reasons why! Charles S. Ritchie should be nominated and elected Treasurer of Washington County.

1st. He promises if elected to conduct the office in a strictly business like manner and to be governed according to the laws of the State of Pennsylvania regulating the duties of County Treasurer.

2nd. He has thoroughly qualified himself as to ability and fitness by his work as Deputy Controller in producing and installing a system of bookkeeping in the County Controller's office, by which the taxpayers can learn every day all about the fiscal affairs of Washington County.

3rd. He is not a slated candidate but a candidate of the people and not a slate maker but a slate breaker. Vote for him.

SCHOOLS CLOSED BY SCARLET FEVER

Epidemic Rages at Bealls-ville and Summary Action is Taken

The entire town of Beallsville, which has a population of 600 persons is practically under quarantine, and several of its public officers may be held accountable for a scarlet fever epidemic now at its height. The town is without a board of health and a representative of the State Board of Health is guarding the village until the town officials meet and install a board. The school will remain closed indefinitely.

About two weeks ago the disease spread through the town, the first case being discovered in school. Other cases were being reported daily and when 20 children became ill, the State Board of Health was notified. Dr. C. B. Wood of Monongahela representing the State Board went to Beallsville and immediately ordered the schools closed.

It is said the state physician found that in no case had a sign of scarlet fever been posted on any house where the disease was found. Dr. Wood reported that the State health laws had been disregarded and the situation was critical. He was then ordered to quarantine the entire town and this will not be lifted until the health laws are complied with.

OIL WELLS IN TOWN CAUSE EXCITEMENT

Canonsburg People Stirred Up by Suddehly Ac- quired Industry

With a dozen wells drilling within the borough limits and new locations being made daily, Canonsburg is excited over the town lot oil development, and there is a rush of oil operators to lease land. Two wells which were drilled in recently are each producing about one hundred barrels a day and in the upper part of town nearly every lot will soon have a derrick upon it.

An effort was made to have an ordinance passed by the town council prohibiting the drilling of oil and gas wells within the borough, but this measure was defeated on final passage. Some property owners then appealed to the courts for an injunction, but before the final hearing was granted the suits were withdrawn.

A Universal Invitation

Today is Fall Opening at the People's Stores Throughout the Country

IT is with great pride and pleasure that we are extending a very cordial invitation to the general public throughout the United States and to the men and women of this city and vicinity in particular, to call and examine our excellent display of beautiful and stunning Fall and Winter Garments for Men, Women and Children.

We Have Solved the Problem

To get clean, sanitary and honest-made clothing at moderate prices is the question of today. Owing to the increased cost of material and extravagant traveling men's expenses, many sweat shop made garments are offered by petty concerns and exorbitant prices are asked for inferior qualities by others.

We Sell Direct to the Wearer

The Clothing we are selling is known the Country over, as the best made and most satisfactory garments in the market. They are made under personal supervision and strictly sanitary conditions.

Look for These Labels

The "Stetson," the "Onyx," the "Weartex," the "Columbia," and the "A & B Rochester" Brands are sold exclusively in our stores. These labels are a safeguard for superior workmanship and cleanliness. We say it frankly and firmly, that considering the quality and styles of these garments, you cannot duplicate them at our prices in any other stores, even in the inferior kind.

Our Phenomenal Success

In making popular priced Clothing for the whole family, it is largely due to the fact that we produce only serviceable and conservative styles. Here you get one hundred cents' worth of Clothing for $1.00. This season we are positively offering better values than ever before. Many of the garments we are selling at $12.50 and $15.98 are priced elsewhere at $20.00 and $25.00.

Men's Clothing Par Excellence

Our Men's and Young Men's Suits and Top Coats this season are the best styles and the finest grades we have ever offered. Browns and Blues are very popular in suits. The rough brownish and greyish cloth with the new raglan sleeves in top coats, is making a big hit with the up-to-date dressers. We also carry many of the conservative models.

Our Modern Credit System

is today appreciated by over one million people, and judging from the recent increase in number we can safely prophesy that this season the accounts at our various branches will reach the two million mark. This is sufficient proof to convince the most prejudiced person that the credit we offer you is dignified and has no embarrassing conditions. You simply say "charge it to my account," and the payments are made according to your income.

Come in and get acquainted with our new Manager.

BEDOUIN IS SMALL EATER

He is Active and Martial, Yet He Subsists Easily on Very Little Food.

The Bedouins are a most alert and military race, and yet it is an undoubted fact that the quantity of food usually consumed by the greater part of them does not exceed six ounces a day. Six or seven dates soaked in melted butter serve a man a whole day, and he esteems himself happy when he can add a small quantity of coarse flour or a little ball of rice.

In 1779 an Englishman describes the Russian grenadiers as follows: "They are the finest body of men I ever saw. Not a man is under six feet high. Their allowance consists of eight pounds of black bread, four pounds of oil, and one pound of salt per man for eight days." In 1854, when the Russians surprised the world by standing against the attack of the Allies on the bloody battlefield of Alma, were found dead Russians with their provisions in their knapsacks, and "visions were 'black bread and oil.'

Dr. Hamlin, who has resided more than twenty years in Constantinople, says the Turkish porters in that city eat bread made from flour scarcely bolted, fruits, curdled milk, of which they are very fond, rice cooked with some other vegetables, and about twice a week a little meat at dinner, which they eat soon after sunset. They never drink any sort of distilled or fermented liquor. Onions and garlic are largely consumed by the Turks.

His Prospects.

Mrs. Murphy—O! bear yer brother-in-law, Pat Keegan, is pretty bad off. Mrs. Casey—Shure, he's good for a year yit. Mrs. Murphy—As long as that? Mrs. Casey—Yis; he's had four different doctors, and each one av him give him three months to live—tuck.

A Sport for the Old.

In most sports youth possesses all the advantages; experience is often a poor match for youth and agility, but the stripling has no advantage over skillful age in fishing.

HAD NEVER BEEN TEMPTED

Delegation of Citizens Looking for County Treasurer Decided Candidate Was Too Honest.

Upon a certain occasion an eminent citizen was approached by a delegation of other eminent citizens, the leader of whom proceeded to say:

"Friend, it must be known to thee that we have had dishonest men in office and the taxpayers have suffered loss thereby?"

"Truly, the facts have come to my ears," was the reply.

"We would further state that we are a delegation looking for a new man to fill the position of county treasurer."

"And in me you will find an honest one."

"That is to say, thee will not graft."

"Not the value of a cent."

"There will be much cash to handle."

"But it will be safe with me."

"And there will be constant temptations."

"But I shall withstand them all."

"Hast ever handled public funds?"

"No, but I again assure thee of my honesty."

"Friend," continued the speaker for the delegation, "thou art honest because thou hast never been tempted. We are now losing about ten per cent. by graft. Let the office be given to an honest man and he'll either take all or none, and the chances are about even up. We will pass on!"

Moral—The honest man of today is the rascal of tomorrow.

The Perpetual Change.

The things of the world are ever rising and falling, and in perpetual change; and this change must be according to the will of God, as he has bestowed upon man neither the wisdom nor the power to enable him to check it. The great lesson in these things is that man must strengthen himself doubly at such times to fulfill his duty, and to do what is right, and must seek his happiness and inward peace from objects which cannot be taken away from him.—Wilhelm von Humboldt.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

With our beloved brother, L. R. Bedsworth, on the death of his beloved wife, Mary A. Bedsworth.

Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God to remove from her earthly home Mrs. Mary Bedsworth, wife of our brother, be it resolved 1st. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to our brother at the time of his sudden bereavement, and feel that he has lost a devoted wife and companion, and we sincerely commend him to our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well, in that he hath called her from earth to her heavenly home.

2nd. That we send a copy of this resolution to our brother, that it be printed in the daily paper, and that it be spread upon the minutes of our order.

CANDIDATES WATCHING PROCEEDINGS ELSEWHERE

Various Decisions of New Law Keeps Up Excitement

PITTSBURG IS IN CENTER

Injunction Restraining Printing of Names for Mayor Has Far-Reaching Effect

While the decision of the county commissioners not to print the names of candidates for burgess, tax collector, and extra commissioners, which offices were thought to have been made vacant by the decision of Judge Davis in the McKeesport "ripper" case has been generally acclaimed to in the county, prospective candidates are keeping a close watch on affairs. It is probable that mandamus proceedings may be instituted in some of the other counties, and if a court decision is given anywhere favorable that is likely to be sustained, there is likely to be efforts made in this county to get the names of these officials on the ballot.

The action in the Pittsburg case yesterday in which an injunction was issued restraining the county commissioners from printing the names of candidates for mayor and other officials on the ballot who are similarly affected, is of State wide importance and is expected to have a bearing on the "question" in its final settlement. This also strengthens the action of the Washington county commissioners in their decision not to print the names of burgess and tax collector on the ballot. In Westmoreland county the matter is being tested, a candidate for burgess at Trafford having issued a mandamus to the commissioners to compel them to print his name on the ticket.

As interested parties in Pittsburg have issued an appeal to the Supreme Court to set aside the injunction of the Allegheny county court issued yesterday, there is a ray of hope on the part of those anxious to become candidates that the opportunity may yet be given. This action will probably decide the question finally. Should it decide that the vacancies exist instead of the incumbents holding over, Charleroi candidates will gain in evidence, and seek to get their names on the ballots.

Belle Vernon Defeated. In the first game of a series of three between the Monessen Lutherans, winners of the Monessen-Belle Vernon church league pennant and the Belle Vernon Christians on the Monessen field Thursday night, the Monessen team won by the score of 1 to 2. Price, pitching for Belle Vernon, was touched for 17 safeties.

Synagogue Opens Sunday. The new Jewish synagogue at Monessen will open for worship Sunday. Special music and impressive service will be held all day, and a large number of visitors from out of town are expected to be present.

A cordial invitation is extended to attend Spidell's Millinery Opening, Saturday, September 16. 41-43

Makes Changes in the School

Moving Rooms in Order to Afford Proper Accommodations for High School

A called meeting of the school board will be held tonight and some important matters, principally those of High School and a janitor for Ninth street building will be taken up. Changes were partly effected today in the Crest avenue and Fifth street buildings which will make room for another High School room. If a new teacher for High School can be elected tonight and that is one of the purposes, it is likely that the proposed transfer of a part of the High School pupils to the new room will take place on Monday. There are a number of other matters it is said upon which the school board may take action.

HOT FIGHT PROMISED

Belle Vernon Municipal Battle Centering on School Board

TWO Factions Warring

A lively fight with interest centered on school board positions is expected to occur in Belle Vernon at the primaries and the fall election. Other important offices are not occasioning much interest. In North Belle Vernon there will also be a hot fight, not so much at the primaries as at the general election. In that borough two full tickets have been named by the Republicans and Democrats. The fight for school board at Belle Vernon, it is stated, will resolve itself into a battle between two factions, one representing the former school board and the other representing a faction directly opposed to their methods and for a change of policy in conducting the schools.

Nine petitions were filed on last Saturday for school director out of a total of 15 from the borough. The other petitions were: One for council, two for auditor, one for constable and two for justice of the peace. There are three councilmen to elect.

Different Viewpoint. The Charleroi Mail complains that the Washington county Grand Jury whitewashed the Children's Home. The Fayette County Grand Jury cannot be accused of whitewashing the County Commissioners. The report indicates that they had a tar bucket in their headquarters.—Connellsville Courier.

SUGAR PRICES HIGHER NOW THAN FOR YEARS

Prices Quoted Today on 25 Pound Sack is $1.80 and It is Still Going Up-No Chance for Any Reduction

PITTSBURG QUOTATIONS LOWER THAN IN NEW YORK

There has been an almost incredible increase in the price of sugar fruit canning season. A leading Charleroi grocery merchant said this year, owing to this being the within the past two weeks and now sugar is selling at a higher rate than it was at any time during the recent year. Not only that but it is still right long. It may be attributed to going up. Indications are that with the lack of beet sugar, for which in a few days sugar will be selling there is an over demand. There is outright at $2.00 per 25 pound sack, plenty of Louisiana sugar, but this which is the way it is disposed of by does not seem to be in such demand most retailers.

Only a few days ago, in fact just before the canning season had properly opened up sugar was selling at $1.45 per sack, the best grade. Now is selling at $7.40 per 100 pounds. The price is $1.80 per sack. Within the next three weeks there will be there at $7.05 per 100 pounds. This more of a demand for sugar than is in the face of the best season of there has been at any time during the year for sugar selling."

SURVIVORS OF 85th REGIMENT IN REUNION

Veterans Gather at Brownsville to Commemorate War Time Incidents and to Greet War Time Friends

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED; ADJOURNMENT IS TODAY

Some 300 persons many of them Brownsville, a member of the 85th veterans of the civil war, gathered in Brownsville yesterday at the annual reunion of the survivors of the 85th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. The reunion was formally opened in the morning and continued until this afternoon. The big feature of yesterday morning was the parade of the school children of Brownsville, South Brownsville and West Brownsville, over 1200 youngsters being in line. The streets of the town are gaily decked with bunting and flags in honor of the old soldiers and many unusual features appear in the decorations.

At the Pennsylvania hotel, the headquarters for the veterans, Burgess W. Z. Winans of South Brownsville, it is stated, will resolve itself into a battle between two factions, one representing the former school board and the other representing a faction directly opposed to their methods and for a change of policy in conducting the schools.

Nine petitions were filed on last Saturday for school director out of a total of 15 from the borough. The other petitions were: One for council, two for auditor, one for constable and two for justice of the peace. There are three councilmen to elect.

NOW WAITING FOR WORK TO BEGIN ON BUILDING

Severe Storm Visits County

Some Damage Realized by Electric Power and Trolley Companies

One of the most severe storms of the summer visited this community this morning, beginning with a wind storm at about 1 o'clock. Almost miraculously there was little damage done, so far as can be learned. Following close upon the wind storm, which threatened to blow the tops off houses, was a terrific down pour of rain. Vivid flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder awoke residents. Electric power and trolley companies suffered to some extent. At Monongahela the damage, it is stated, was far greater than in Charleroi.

SEARCHING FOR WOMAN

Monessen Police Making Effort to Locate Mrs. Rihbany

THOUGHT TO BE IN WEST

The police of the large cities of both Ohio and Michigan are looking for Mrs. Delia Rihbany, who deserted her husband and a little child some days ago in Monessen. It is thought that Mrs. Rihbany had gone to Adrian, Michigan, but telegrams to that place, as well as Toledo, Ohio, have elicited the information that she has not gone to either place. Constable Watt of Monessen is now of the opinion that Mrs. Rihbany anticipated that immediate search would be made for her at Adrian, Michigan, to which place she bought her ticket from Monessen, and is firmly convinced that she went no further than Pittsburg where she probably disposed of her ticket to the railroad company, as the unused part would be redeemable.

An effort will be made to locate the woman on another line of investigation, and it is thought that the plan now formed will result in her arrest and detection. A telegram received yesterday from Chief Knapp of Toledo, Ohio, is to the effect that his best men have been detailed on the case and that every train is being watched, consequently if she goes by the line originally intended, she will be apprehended.

Winter Cars Installed. Newly painted winter cars have been placed in service by the West Side Street Railway company on their Monessen and Charleroi Belle Vernon line.

Money Appropriated Sufficient to Start Structure

ALL PLANS ARE SENT IN

Engineer Completed Work. Some Time Ago and Officials Added O. K.

With all local data asked for in the hands of government officials in charge of building, apparently the only thing to be done now in the local Federal building matter to insure its erection within the next few months is for the government to let the contract for the work. Plans and specifications have been prepared for some time, it is understood, and engineering data has been sent in by Postmaster J. E. McCordie, together with requested O. K.'s of borough officials.

Last spring when the government asked Postmaster J. E. McCordie to have surveys made and an engineer make drawings of the site at the corner of Seventh street and Fallowfield avenue, there was no borough engineer and it was necessary to employ an outside man. City Engineer Hanlon of Monongahela was engaged and did a good job. Photographs of the surroundings as well as of the grounds were taken and sent into the Treasury department together with the plans.

After a time the plot as drawn by Mr. Hanlon came back with the request that borough officials O. K. the work. This was done, and eight weeks ago Postmaster J. E. McCordie finished up all the work requested in the matter and sent in his report. There has been nothing received by him concerning the matter since, and it seems now as though all that is needed is for some one to boost the matter to get the government to have work started in a short time. Enough money was appropriated some time ago out of the total sum with which to start work. Only the people in charge of construction know what is holding it back.

Had Prosperous Season. R. S. Coyle, manager of Shady Grove Park, near Uniontown, which closed its season Monday has returned to Charleroi where he will remain for some time. Mr. Coyle reports a prosperous season.

THE WAY OF ALL SLATES.

As the Mail has previously remarked the open primary election is a deathblow to political bossism and prearranged slates. This is evidenced by the political chaos, from the would-be bosses' point of view, that exists over all the State. "Politics is all shot to pieces," the old-timers tell us, because there is no one at the head, and no one to give orders, for the simple reason that the man who can vote secretly for whom he pleases will not take orders. Consequently, from the former so-called leaders'
point of view, all is chaos.

This is a most desirable condition.
The people are now the political arbiters, and that is the reason why all slates fail, and why all attempts to form a hard and fast organization falls down. Mayor Magee, in his desire to emulate his illustrious relative and become the "Little Napoleon" of politics in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, is realizing that the people and not the bosses are the ruler. In the efforts to foist a slate upon the Republican voters of Washington county the attempt has gone down,
"hoist by its own petard."

This was the object of the primary—to take the political control out of the hands of individual and restore it to the people where it belongs. Any attempts on the part of any individual or faction to assume control of political affairs in Washington county is doomed to failure as long as the open primary law is in existence.

SOMETHING PERMANENT

Any person who reads the newspapers of the surrounding towns—Pittsburgh included—will note that the various sections are making an effort to benefit their towns and communities in a business and industrial way. One of the significant features is that a change of method is apparent. Instead of trying to get people to come to the city or towns just to spend money, efforts are being made to get something that will be of permanent benefit—something that will help the people who are already in the community to be able to be employed more steadily at prouitable wages. In other words, town boomers have discovered that something more is essential than attracting crowds of outsiders to the community just to spend their money for a day.

Charleroi has committed this same error of expending its efforts for "big days" instead of trying for something permanent. Now the town is up against the condition of a stagnated trade between big pay days for industries outside. There are now many more people living in the town than get employment here, and consequently they have to go outside, or a portion of them are idle more or less, so that the aggregate cuts down trade and business correspondingly.

There is always talk about getting small industries, but until conditions are better for these there is not much prospect in that direction, when other towns can offer cheaper labor, cheaper sites, cheaper rents and lower taxation and living expenses.

Charleroi like Pittsburg and all other towns along the valley need more diversified industries, and it is up to the promoters to try to foster and promote these, instead of devoting their time to "big days." What is wanted is something at home for the people already here to do and which will give them permanent employment.

BIG BRIDGE TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Monessen Plans Expenditure of $50,000 To Build Immense Viaduct

TESTS ARE BEING MADE

Tests are being made by Fred J. Eiele, an engineer of the Chester and Fleming firm of Pittsburg for foundations for a big viaduct to be constructed over Third street, Monessen, connecting Reed and Rostraver streets. The viaduct will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and Monessen council has asked the voters of the borough to approve an outlay of that sum in its construction.

The viaduct which will be built of concrete, will be 510 feet long, with a roadway between 30 and 50 feet in width. The big structure will slope from Rostraver to Reed avenue on a 5 per cent grade. There will be a main arch 200 feet in length curving up to the roadway from piers of solid masonry set on a tested foundation. The height of the main arch will be approximately 90 feet in the center to the curve. The viaduct will be an important one to Monessen.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions of respect adopted by Charleroi Circle No. 303 of the Protected Home Circle, in memory of Brother Frank Hough, who departed this life Sept. 8th, 1911.

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from among us, one of our worthy esteemed brothers, in which we feel a great loss, but bow submissively to His will, therefore Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from our midst leaves a vacancy that will be deeply realized by all members of our Circle.

Resolved, That with sincere sympathy for the bereaved wife and relatives of the deceased, we hereby express our hope that even so great a loss may be overruled for good, by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, a copy printed in the local paper and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

Wanted the Day to Himself

Nothing makes us quite so weary as these elaborate, gotten-up-ahead-of-time jokes that some people stage and spring with such a dramatic effect. Our Washington correspondent told us of one of these, the other day. A man went into the patent office, last week, and said he wanted a copyright. They steered him to the right department, and he opened up like this:

"This is Saturday, is it not? Thank you. I understand that you will not issue a copyright on Sunday."

"No, sir. That is the rule."

"But you will issue a copyright on any other day of the week?"

"Yes, sir."

"I'm so glad. I want to get Friday copyrighted. It's my birthday, and I don't want any other fellows using it. How much will it cost?"

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

Blessing English Crops.

The quaint ceremony of blessing the crops was observed the other evening on the Earl of Craven's estate at Blinley, in Northeast Warwickshire, says the London Daily Mail. Meeting at the parish church, the vicar and a number of parishioners formed into procession and various well-known farms were visited.

Trans-Atlantic Cable Business

Traffic Chart of Western Union, Anglo-American and Direct U. S. Cable Business, Showing Capacity of the Cables and the Proportion Now Utilized.

Proposed Modification of Existing Arrangements

A provisional modification of an arrangement which has existed for many years has been reached between the Western Union Telegraph Company, The Anglo-American Cable Company and the Direct U. S. Cable Company, under which the cable systems of these companies now worked exclusively in business connection with each other, but operated and maintained separately, will be permitted in direct physical connection with each other in the Western Union land system.

Two objects are to be attained by this arrangement:

First, more efficient and economical operation.

Second, the introduction of new forms of service to the advantage of the public.

The Trans-Atlantic Cable Situation and Competition

The trans-Atlantic cable situation is as follows:

The Mackay group of seven cables, including the German cables, owned or worked in physical connection with the telegraph lines of that company form one system.

The French cables comprise an independent system, using both the Western Union and the Mackay land lines for their United States connection.

In competition with these is the Western Union group of cables, eight in all, owned by three separate companies, two of which are British companies owning five of the eight cables.

Two only of the British owned cables terminate in the United States and all of them are entirely dependent on the Western Union for their connection with any telegraph system, or for their reaching any centre of business, and are now worked exclusively, so far as business is concerned, with the Western Union.

Efficiency Increased, Waste Prevented

The proposed arrangement between the Western Union, the Anglo-American and the Direct U. S. companies will bring the eight cables of the three companies under one operating control. The consequent increase in effectiveness and economy will place the Western Union in a position to offer certain advantages in cable service not now enjoyed by the public.

The other way open to enable the Western Union to make such improvements and introduce such new services as it proposes to do, would be to lay new cables. This would seem to be the height of folly. Duplication of the existing trans-Atlantic cable facilities at a cost of many millions, when there are more than ample facilities for all business, would put an unnecessary financial burden upon an already fully burdened business and would probably postpone the reduction of rates or introduction of new services.

Limited Business Hours and Idle Facilities

As at present carried on, the trans-Atlantic cable business is practically all flash service, i. e. instantaneous. Owing to the difference in time, there are only a few business hours of the day common to both sides and during these hours at least 75% of the cable business is done. This is demonstrated by the accompanying chart.

In the interests of international business nothing should be done to interfere in any way with the so-called flash or instantaneous service, and the lines should be kept clear to accommodate such messages during the few business hours common to both countries; but to continue to confine the cables to this class of service, as at present, will utilize only about 25% of the existing capacity of millions of property and places on that limited service all the capital, maintenance and operating charges.

The limited time and the character of the business, if best results are to

To meet these requirements it is essential not only that there be at all times sufficient cable facilities, under one control, but that they should be operated interchangeably with each other and in close physical connection with land lines as one system. Adequate spare facilities are necessary to provide against the very frequent cable interruptions.

Neither the Western Union nor any one of the companies of the Western Union group has, independently of the others, facilities enough to handle the business which at times any one company might be called upon to take care of, because of some particular rush of business, or because of some cable interruption. Nor could any one company furnish all the direct circuits necessary for efficient service, although the combined facilities of these companies are ample if they could be used supplementary to each other and interchangeably.

As it is, each company operates its own cables through separate and distinct offices and under separate and distinct management. All interchange of business is by actual transfer of the business from one company to the other, with the consequent delay and interruption of a service in which seconds are valuable.

Daily and Week-end Cable Letters

So soon as the proposed arrangement goes into effect, the Western Union purposes, with the consent of the British Post Office Department, to introduce at least two new features or services in addition to the proposed deferred rate—the

DAILY CABLE LETTER

and the

WEEK-END CABLE LETTER

at a very low rate for cable service only. This will enable the public to save the six to eight days consumed in the trans-Atlantic passage of mails.

Monopoly of Cable Business Impossible

There is no cable monopoly possible. The three systems—the Western Union, the French and the Mackay—will continue to exist.

The Mackay Companies is a holding organization with no physical property, but exercising through stock ownership, lease or contract, operating control of various companies owning land lines and cables which make up the Mackay System. Through this control all the various properties are operated as one system to great advantage in service over what could be given by these same companies if operated separately.

The French cables form another system.

The Western Union System, under the proposed arrangement for one operating control over the present segregated units, will be enabled to make two distinct advances in the trans-Atlantic cable business:

1—BETTER SERVICE. This will be insured by more efficient and economical working resulting from single direction over the operations of both cables and land lines.

2—PUBLIC ADVANTAGES. The greater part of the cable capacity has been and is now utilized. It will continue to lie dormant and unutilized under existing conditions and traditions. The Western Union purposes to make these wasted facilities available to the public by means of new kinds of cable service.

In addition, the Western Union intends to nationalize its land lines by opening them to all trans-Atlantic cable companies.

The limited time and the character of the business, if best results are to

The Sense of Smell.
"It is the upper part of the nose that smells," said a perfumer. "The lining there is very sensitive and brown in color, not red, as in the lower nose. Men are more sensitive to odors than women. Scientific tests have shown, I believe, that, while many men can detect the smell of prussic acid even when there is only one part of the acid to two million parts of water, the average woman fails to detect the smell if there are less than ten parts of the acid. Though the white man is much less sensitive to odors than the savage, a prolonged stay in a part of the world where smells are few puts a very fine edge on the sense of smell. Dr. Nansen has declared that when returning from the ice world to Franz Josef Land he knew when he was approaching the assistant he had left there by smelling his scented soap long before he saw him. He could, too, when approaching the hut have given an inventory of the stores there, as he smelled everything it contained separately and distinctly."

Ruled His Servants by Fines.
Sir Richard Newdigate, a seventeenth century Warwickshire squire, whose papers were published some years ago by one of his descendants, ruled his servants by a system of fines. The value at which he rated domestic crimes is shown by such entries in his diary as: "Nan Newton, for breaking a teapot, 2s. 6d.; Richard Knight, for pride and slitting, 2s. 6d.; William Hetherington, for not being ready to go to church three Sundays, 1s. 6d.; Thomas Birdall, for being at Nuneaton from morning till night, 5 shillings; cook, dead drunk, 10 shillings." As his cook's wages were only 1s. a year the paid pretty dearly for her lapse from sobriety. Sir Richard had a system of rewards as well as penalties. "To my three daughters," he writes, "because they came to prayers, 3 shillings;" and "to Tom Cooper, who worked hard after he broke his head, 2s. 6d."

Origin of Foxe's "Book of Martyrs."
Foxe's "Book of Martyrs" was published in March, 1632, as the "Actes and Monuments" of the martyrs, a title borrowed from an earlier book, says the London Chronicle. The famous volume might never have appeared at all but for the association of Foxe with the printer Day of Aldersgate street, in whose business Foxe took an active part. On the tombstone of Day in the church of Little Bradley, Suffolk, the partnership is thus immortalized:

He et a Fox to wrigh how martyrs runne
By death to lyfe; Fox ventured paynes
and heath.

To give them light; Daye spent in priu his weath.

Even in those days the alien problem troubled industry, for we find Foxe appealing to Cecil to relax the law and permit his friend Day to engage more than four foreign printers.

Iron in Plants.
Iron is the substance which gives the green appearance to foliage. It forms a constituent part of chlorophyll and is the green coloring matter which stains the bodies inside the cells of leaves, called plastids. When the first organized food is being formed in the leaves from water and carbonic acid gas a certain amount of energy is required. This is obtained from the sun's rays, but the work of absorbing it is carried out by the chlorophyll. It requires very little iron for the production of all the chlorophyll found in a crop, and nearly all soils contain an abundant supply.

The Human Clock.
The Spanish painter Ribera, Mr. Haldane Macfie recalls in his "History of Painting," worked with such fervor that all count of time was lost to him. "He made a living clock to check the passing hours. His servant came every hour to the studio to say in a loud and stately voice, 'Another hour has gone, Signor Cavalier!'"

He Won.
"Before you kiss me, Horace, let me tell you that Fred has given Kitty a diamond ring. You have never given me one."

"Dearest, it is only girls who are not precious in themselves who require the aid of precious stones."

"Oh, you may kiss me twice, Horace."

Pen and Sword.
"Do you believe the pen is mightier than the sword?"

"Of course it is. Who ever had to pay $25,000 damages in a breach of promise case on account of the sword be carried!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Rule of Life.
We should meet each morning as from foreign countries and, spending the day together, should depart at night as into foreign countries. In all things I would have the island of a man inviolate.—Emerson.

The Irony of Fate.
"Speaking of the irony of fate"—"Well?"

"I know an artist who earns money to pay his divorced wife alimony by drawing Cupids."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

One Was Enough.
Milton was one day asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughters in the different languages.

"No, sir," he said; "one tongue is sufficient for any woman."

She Knew.

"But do you think I could deceive my own little wife?"

"No, I know you could not, but I have seen you are silly enough to try."

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I shall never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me."

Women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter"—MRS. CHAS. BACON, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such a widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and most helpful.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep, and made waking hours miserable? The alternative is a proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alternative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows:

"Gentlemen: In July, 1903, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhaged and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alternative. In the Fall of 1905 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and weight has increased from 110 to 150 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Coughs, Flu, Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in Tuberculosis. The system does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more details. For sale by all leading druggists and

LIVE UNDER THE SAME ROOF PAID TO PLAY WITH JIMMY

Then, and Not Until Then, Will You Become Really Acquainted With Your Friends.

Lad Explains How He and His Little Mates Earned Ten Cents Apiece.

Two households may stand side by side on the same street, two families live within hailing distance of one another for years in the same community, and yet have opposite tastes, sentiments and convictions. The children of each growing up together may marry and, until they reach the period of new adjustment, never suspect how antagonistic has been their early training. This is one reason why the first year of marriage is so beset with trials and thorns. Everybody knows that until people actually dwell under the same roof they do not mutually become acquainted. A single week spent with a friend at a house party does more to promote intimacy or indifference than years of superficial social intercourse.

The touch-and-go meetings incidental to teas and receptions are the mere suggestions of personality, but when one sits day after day beside the fire or at the table with a neighbor, each ceasing to be on guard, real understanding begins.

Even correspondence, which is in the nature of revelation, is qualified and is by no means so true a test of disposition and temperament as the test of living together. During courtship and betrothal an engaged pair are on probation. Without effort each displays qualities of charm that cannot fail to be attractive. The most ordinary speech has a flavor of compliment. The future husband and wife are walking through a land of dreams. Shall the dreams come true? They surely will if on both sides there are fixed principles of honor, justice and fidelity—Mrs. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion.

MARY STUART'S BLACK PEARL

Story of Accidental Recovery of the Scottish Queen's Necklace in a Little Shop.

A remarkable story appears in a Paris contemporary of the discovery of the black pearl necklace of Mary Queen of Scots, which disappeared on February 8, 1587. We give the story as we find it.

A lady cyclist had a mishap with the cord of her pince-nez while touring in an obscure town in Scotland. The lady pulled up at the general shop and tried to replace the cord. The shopkeeper, not having a suitable cord, told the lady he would take the wire from an old necklace which he showed her.

She being struck with it, said she would buy it at the price asked—12s. 6d.—and do as best she could for a cord. On reaching her lodgings the lady cleared the pearls and was struck with their beauty.

The lady's next procedure was to submit the necklace to an expert jeweler, who pronounced the pearls to be of very great value, and the Paris contemporary from which we have taken the story says they are worth at least £15,000, adding that on the day of the execution the unfortunate queen of Scotland divided among her women who attended, her ornaments and jewels, including the necklace of black pearls. How it passed into the hands of the ancestors of the shopkeeper is a mystery.

LORE OF THE WEDDING RING

Puritans Vainly Sought to Abolish the Emblem—Diamond Best for Betrothal Ring.

According to the ancient ritual in marriage the husband began the ring business by placing it upon the bride's thumb and putting it successively on the next two fingers pronouncing for each one a personal trinity, with a final amen when the fourth finger was reached, and there the ring remained.

The Greek church ritual directs that the ring be placed upon the right hand. Puritan influence sought to abolish the ring as a vain and heathen emblem, but the sweet old fashion of giving and taking the emblem "for our love's sake" yet remains to us.

Betrothal or engagement rings vary in fashion nowadays, and always depend, or should, upon the purse of the donor. Where there are no limitations of this sort his taste, if it be perfect, will lead him to choose the diamond solitaire, and of the best he can afford, a small and pure blue-white stone being altogether preferable to a large stone. Some prefer a ring set with three stones—generally a sapphire set between two diamonds. Others select a ruby or an emerald, which signifies promise of happiness.

Few persons choose pearls for an engagement ring, as pearls are supposed to typify tears. They are also too perishable to become emblems of love, which, in its first glow, at least, is understood to be indestructible. Their beauty is very precarious, being dimmed, or "aged," as the lapidary expresses it, by contact with impure air, while acid annihilates them completely.

WOULDN'T CHARGE FOR AID

But Good Samaritan Farmer Would Sell His Team to the Stalled Automobilist.

"Why," returned the farmer, scratching his head in a puzzled sort of fashion, "I'm not the kind of a feller as would charge a sufferin' feller bein' anything at all for helpin' him out o' trouble."

"That's mighty nice of you," said Witherbee.

"No, sir," said the farmer. "My conscience wouldn't never rest if I done a thing like that. Jest couldn't look my wife or the parson in the face if I took up for bein' a good Samaritan."

"By George!" said Witherbee. "It does my heart good to hear a man talk that way these days."

"Wa-al, it's been a rule of mine ever since I was a boy," said the old man.

"I wish there were more people like you," said Witherbee.

"Pity there ain't," said the farmer; "but I don't take any pride to my self becasue of it. Giddap!"

"But I say," said Witherbee, "where are you going? You haven't helped me out of the mud yet?"

"Why," said the old man, "you hasn't made me any offer."

"What for?" demanded Witherbee.

"For the team," said the farmer. "I can't charge ye nothing for helpin' ye, but I'll sell ye the horses for $50 a head."—Harper's Bazar.

AND READY TO FIGHT AGAIN

Cat Refused to Be a Party to Proceedings by Which She Officially Died.

Jerry the pet cat of the Stoltz family of Bloomfield, N. J., considerably startled its mistress when, the other afternoon, it appeared at the kitchen door after having been buried as dead during the course of the preceding forenoon. Jerry is of a warlike disposition, and during a recent combat, sustained such injuries that the family decided to put him out of misery. According to the garbage man was called on to place the pet animal in an old tin boiler, pour in chloroform and put on the lid. In a few minutes Jerry was "dead." He was buried and the Stoltz children covered the grave of their friend and playmate with flowers. But life to Jerry was sweet, so when Mrs. Stoltz opened the kitchen door later, she found him waiting for admittance. Mrs. Stoltz screamed and ran, but her husband let the cat in, and declared he would not permit the warrior to be "killed" again.

Napoleon Suppressed "Julius Caesar."

Bonaparte was one night at the play in Paris, and it happened to be "Julius Caesar." Talma performed the part of Brutus, and when he knelt to Caesar and said "Give us back our liberties," the acclamations all over the house were so great that nothing could be heard on the stage for many minutes. Bonaparte meanwhile was taking snuff to his most violent way, which he always did when agitated. The next day he sent orders that that play was not to be acted any more.

Journal of the Hon. Mr. Calvert

Phillips on Matrimony.

The late David Graham Phillips had, like many bachelors, a cynical view of matrimony. Mr. Phillips, at a reunion of Princeton's class of '87, at the Princeton club, said of marriage: "The Persians have a proverb that every young man should consider well before proposing. It runs: 'He that ventureth on matrimony is like unto one who thrusteth his hand into a sack containing many thousands of serpents, and one cobra. Yet, if the prophet so will it, he may draw forth the cobra.'"

INDEPENDENT CO. WORKS IN VALLEY

Telephone Construction Company Asks for a Franchise in Monongahela

BUSY IN OTHER TOWNS

Continuing its efforts to establish service in every part of the valley the Independent Telephone Construction company, is now trying to have an ordinance put through at Monongahela granting it the rights to construct and maintain a telephone system there. Other towns on which it is centering are Monessen and Donora. Already Belle Vernon, Fayette City and in fact all boroughs between Charleroi and California are on the Independent line.

This week an ordinance was presented to common council at Monongahela, and passed by that body. It is now up to the select council to consider the ordinance and then if passed it will go to the Mayor's hands either for approval or veto. The real fight, if there is to be any, hasn't begun.

While the Independent Telephone Construction company is busy with new systems in towns heretofore solidly in the grasp of the Bell Telephone company, the latter concern is busy improving their service. The Bell really furnishes the most complete service at the present time. In Charleroi an entire new system is being installed.

SCHOOLS CLOSED BY SCARLET FEVER

Epidemic Rages at Beallsville and Summary Action is Taken

The entire town of Beallsville, which has a population of 600 persons is practically under quarantine, and several of its public officers may be held accountable for a scarlet fever epidemic now at its height. The town is without a board of health and a representative of the State Board of Health is guarding the village until the town officials meet and install a board. The school will remain closed indefinitely.

About two weeks ago the disease spread through the town, the first case being discovered in school. Other cases were being reported daily and when 20 children became ill, the State Board of Health was notified.

Dr. C. L. Wood of Monongahela

representing the State Board went to Beallsville and immediately ordered the schools closed.

It is said the state physician found that in no case had a sign of scarlet fever been posted on any house where the disease was found. Dr. Wood reported that the State health laws had been disregarded and the situation was critical. He was then ordered to quarantine the entire town and this will not be lifted until the health laws are complied with.

OIL WELLS IN TOWN CAUSE EXCITEMENT

Canonsburg People Stirred
Up by Suddenly Acquired Industry

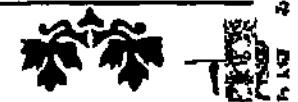

With a dozen wells drilling within the borough limits and new locations being made daily, Canonsburg is excited over the town lot oil development, and there is a rush of oil operators to lease land. Two wells which were drilled in recently are each producing about one hundred barrels a day and in the upper part of town nearly every lot will soon have a derrick upon it.

An effort was made to have an ordinance passed by the town council prohibiting the drilling of oil and gas wells within the borough, but this measure was defeated on final passage. Some property owners then appealed to the courts for an injunction, but before the final hearing was granted the suits were withdrawn.

For County Treasurer

C. S. RITCHIE
North Franklin Township

Primaries September 30, 1911. According to Rules of the Republican Party.

A few reasons why! Charles S. Ritchie should be nominated and elected Treasurer of Washington County.

1st. He promises if elected to conduct the office in a strictly business like manner and to be governed according to the laws of the State of Pennsylvania regulating the duties of County Treasurer.

2nd. He has thoroughly qualified himself as to ability and fitness by his work as Deputy Controller in producing and installing a system of bookkeeping in the County Controller's office, by which the taxpayers can learn every day all about the fiscal affairs of Washington County.

3rd. He is not a slated candidate but a candidate of the people and not a slate maker but a slate breaker. Vote for him.

A Universal Invitation

Today is Fall Opening at the People's Stores Throughout the Country

I T is with great pride and pleasure that we are extending a very cordial invitation to the general public throughout the United States and to the men and women of this city and vicinity in particular, to call and examine our excellent display of beautiful and stunning Fall and Winter Garments for Men, Women and Children.

We Have Solved the Problem

To get clean, sanitary and honest-made clothing at moderate prices is the question of today. Owing to the increased cost of material and extravagant traveling men's expenses, many sweat shop made garments are offered by petty concerns and exorbitant prices are asked for inferior qualities by others.

We Sell Direct to the Wearer

The Clothing we are selling is known the Country over as the best made and most satisfactory garments in the market. They are made under personal supervision and strictly sanitary conditions.

Look for These Labels

The "Stetson," the "Onyx," the "Weartex," the "Columbia," and the "A & B Rochester" Brands are sold exclusively in our stores. These labels are a safeguard for superior workmanship and cleanliness. We say it frankly and firmly, that considering the quality and styles of these garments, you cannot duplicate them at our prices in any other stores, even in the inferior kind.

Our Phenomenal Success

In making popular priced Clothing for the whole family, is largely due to the fact that we produce only serviceable and "conservative" styles. Here you get one hundred cents' worth of Clothing for $1.00. This season we are positively offering better values than ever before. Many of the garments we are selling at $12.50 and $15.98 are priced elsewhere at $20.00 and $25.00.

Men's Clothing Par Excellence

Our Men's and Young Men's Suits and Top Coats this season are the best styles and the finest grades we have ever offered. Browns and Blues are very popular in suits. The rough brownish and greyish cloth with the new raglan sleeves in top coats, is making a big hit with the up-to-date dressers. We also carry many of the conservative models.

Our Modern Credit System

is today appreciated by over one million people, and judging from the recent increase in number we can safely prophesy that this season the accounts at our various branches will reach the two million mark. This is sufficient proof to convince the most prejudiced person that the credit we offer you is dignified and has no embarrassing conditions. You simply say "charge it to my account," and the payments are made according to your income.

BEDOUIN IS SMALL EATER HAD NEVER BEEN TEMPTED

He is Active and Martial, Yet He Subsists Easily on Very Little Food.

The Bedouins are a most alert and martial race, and yet it is an undoubted fact that the quantity of food usually consumed by the greater part of them does not exceed six ounces a day. Six or seven dates soaked in melted butter serve a man a whole day, and he esteems himself happy when he can add a small quantity of coarse flour or a little ball of rice.

In 1779 an Englishman describes the Russian grenadiers as follows: "They are the finest body of men I ever saw. Not a man is under six feet high. Their allowance consists of eight pounds of black bread, four pounds of oil, and one pound of salt per man for eight days."

In 1854, when the Russians surprised the world by standing against the attack of the Allies, on the bloody battlefield of Alma, were found dead Russians with their provisions in their knapsacks, and these provisions were "black bread and oil."

Dr. Hamlin, who has resided more than twenty years in Constantinople, says the Turkish porters in that city eat bread made from flour scarcely bolted, fruits, curdled milk, of which they are very fond, rice cooked with some other vegetables, and about twice a week a little meat at dinner, which they eat soon after sunset. They never drink any sort of distilled or fermented liquor. Onions and garlic are largely consumed by the Turks.

His Prospects

Mrs. Murphy—O! hear yer brother-in-law, Pat Keegan, is pretty bad off. Mrs. Casey—Shure, he's good for a year yet. Mrs. Murphy—As long as that? Mrs. Casey—Yis; he's had four different doctors, and each one of them give him three months to live—uck.

A Sport for the Old.

In most sports youth possesses all the advantages; experience is often a poor match for youth and agility, but the striping has no advantage over skillful age in fishing.

The Easy Laxative

TRIALAX.

Speaks for Itself

Triax has been proven to be the best and easiest Laxative ever offered to the people. One triangular tablet, chewed well, is often times enough, as a good mild laxative, but you eat more without any injurious effects. Try one. For sale by all druggists 10 and 25 cents. Guaranteed by The Trialax Company under the Pure Food and Drug Act, June 20, 1906, Serial No. 34,900.

Winding Up the Season with Wonderful Bargains

To Carry Over Nothing in Summer Goods...We've Cut the Price of All

That's the story in a nut shell. We must close out all Summer Stuffs. Our new winter goods are piling in upon us and we must have the room. Our summer sales have cleared out a wonderful lot of goods and there's a reason. We've made the prices to do it. Berryman's bargains ARE bargains and the people know it. It will mean three days of the biggest business ever done by this store--you cannot afford to miss it--you must be here. You know the genuine old fashioned Lancaster Gingham now selling at ten cents per yard--Well we've bought 2500 yards and are going to sell it to our customers at FIVE CENTS per yard, the lowest price it ever reached. It will be sold with a coupon. Not over ten yards to customer and none sold to children. We want the grown people to come to this sale, and it will pay them to do so. Don't miss the time and the place.

Charleroi People Attend the Gaines

Charleroi was well represented at the ball games in Pittsburg Thursday, as well as at the Exposition. At the ball game there were 30 persons or more to say nothing of the number that did not go there but took a day off to go to the city to shop or to attend the exposition. Thursday there was a low farer on the railroad and many took advantage of the opportunity thus offered.

Resolutions of Sympathy.
With our beloved brother, L. R. Bedsworth, on the death of his beloved wife, Mary A. Bedsworth.

Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God to remove from her earthly home Mrs. Mary Bedsworth, wife of our brother, be it resolved:

1st. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to our brother at the time of his sudden bereavement, and feel that he has lost a devoted wife and companion, and we sincerely commend him to our Heavenly Father who doth all things well, in that he hath called her from earth to her heavenly home.

2nd. That we send a copy of this resolution to our brother, that it be printed in the daily paper, and that it be spread upon the minutes of our order.

A Little Conversation

Said the Shoe to the Stocking,
"I'll make a hole in you,"
Said the Stocking to the Shoe,
"I'll be 'darned' if you do."

No darning needed with our shoes. They don't make holes.

Said the Tree to the River,
"I'll fall into you,"
Said the River to the Tree,
"I'll be 'dammed' if you do."

Dam your feet in our Shoes,
and be comfortable.

Said the Fellow to the Girl,
"I'll put my arm around you,"
Said the Girl to the Fellow,
"I'll be 'held' if you do."

You can hold tighter, if you stand in our shoes.

Ladies Maccabees Drape Charter

Members of the West Newton, Mon-essen and Monongahela hives attended the regular meeting of the Charleroi Lady Maccabees Thursday evening. The guards of the Charleroi Hive gave a fine exhibition drill.
With impressive ceremonies in honor of the late supreme commander, Miss Lillian M. Hollister, whose death occurred about a month ago, the charter was draped. Resolutions of condolence were read. After the meeting a social hour was spent,
during which time a lunch was served.
